Common Pronouns

Pronoun	Sounds like	Variations
He / Him	He / him / his are gender-specific pronouns that are usually used to refer to men or boys	His, Himself
She / Her	She / her / hers are gender-specific pronouns that are typically used to refer to women or girls	Hers, Herself
They / Them	They / them / Theirs are gender neutral pronouns that are typically used to refer to people you don't know	Theirs, themselves
Ze (or Zie)	Zee (like "see" with a "Z")	Can also be spelled as xe
Name	Whatever their name is!	Some people don't want to use pronouns at all and will ask you to refer to them by their name alone

In English, whether we realize it or not, people frequently refer to us using pronouns when speaking about us. Often, when speaking of a singular human in the third person, these pronouns have a gender implied -- such as “he” to refer to a man/boy or “she” to refer to a woman/girl. These associations are not always accurate or helpful.

Often, people make assumptions about the gender of another person based on the person’s appearance or name. These assumptions aren’t always correct, and the act of making an assumption (even if correct) sends a potentially harmful message -- that people have to look a certain way to demonstrate the gender that they are or are not.

Pronouns matter because they are a major part of someone's identity. Using someone’s correct personal pronouns is a way to respect them and create an inclusive environment, just as using a person’s name can be a way to respect them. Just as it can be offensive or even harassing to make up a nickname for someone and call them that nickname against their will, it can be offensive or harassing to guess at someone’s pronouns and refer to them using those pronouns if that is not how that person wants to be known. Or, worse, actively choosing to ignore the pronouns someone has stated that they go by could imply the oppressive notion that intersex, transgender, nonbinary, and gender nonconforming people do not or should not exist.

Thanks!
